These third parties only have access to your Personal Information to perform such tasks on our behalf. They and are contractually obliged to keep it secure and not to disclose or use it for any other purpose.

Legal Obligations

We may disclose your Personal Information if required to do so by law or in accordance with a court order.

Security

The security of your Personal Information is important to us. Remember however that the Internet is a risky environment. While we try to use commercially acceptable means to protect your Personal Information, we cannot guarantee its absolute security.

Links To Other Sites

Our Service may contain links to other sites that are not operated by us. If you click on a third party link, you will be directed to that site. We recommend that you review the Privacy Statement of every site you visit. We have no control over, and are not responsible for the privacy policies or practices of any third party sites or services.

Your Rights

Depending on the legal basis for which we are using your information, you may be entitled to object. For example, if we're using your information for marketing purposes, we will stop if you object. However, if we are complying with certain legal obligations, we may continue to do so, even if you object.

You have the right of access to all the personal information we hold about you. If any of your information is incorrect or incomplete, you are entitled to have it corrected.

In some circumstances you may be entitled to receive some of your information from us electronically. We can either pass the information to you, or to a third party if you wish.

You may also be entitled to ask us to restrict our use of your information, for example if you think the information we hold on you is incorrect.

Changes To Our Privacy Statement

We may update our Privacy Policy from time to time. Please refer to it frequently. If you have any questions about it, please contact us.
